

IIM Recommended Order of Study

Welcome to Third Millennium Ministries! We are pleased that you have chosen to advance your biblical knowledge using our materials. Please be aware that Third Millennium Ministries is a publisher. In order to receive academic credit for our courses, students must study under the supervision and administration of a school or other partner institution.

The curriculum is designed to be used in support of existing schools, as well as by groups and individuals. Schools, teachers, students, and other groups and individuals are free to implement lessons and courses in any manner they choose. In addition, our curriculum is a work in progress. Courses are made available on our website as soon as they are completed. As our curriculum grows, so do the variety of options for use.

That said, many students have asked for guidance as to the most useful order of study for our materials. Below you will find a recommended order, divided into semesters that correspond to a traditional seminary curriculum.
